Little Paleontologists Ages 3-5, drop off program

Did you know that Paleontologists not only study dinosaurs but also study the history of life? Paleontologists use fossils of animals, including dinosaurs and plants to try to figure out what they were, where they are from and what they can tell us about the history of the Earth. In this class, your child will be introduced to the discovery of dinosaurs through hands-on activities, songs, games and some serious "digging". Let their imaginations run wild as they learn about the history of the Earth and themselves.
